Pittsburgh, PA (September 1, 2020) – Greycourt & Co., Inc., a leading advisor to ultra-high net worth families and family offices, is pleased to announce that Managing Director Matthew Litwin has been promoted to President of the firm, effective September 1st.

Mr. Litwin is a highly skilled executive who has over 25 years of investing experience, the last ten of which he has spent at Greycourt following a successful career as a sell-side and buy-side analyst and portfolio manager. As President, Mr. Litwin will expand his responsibilities to include the strategic leadership of Greycourt’s growth and long-term evolution, with a particular focus on the rapidly-growing Collaborative Solutions business line, which is focused on strategic consulting services for very large family offices. In addition to his new role and responsibilities, Mr. Litwin will continue to manage Greycourt’s manager research team and serve as lead advisor to several of the firm’s clients.

In announcing the promotion, Greycourt’s CEO Greg Friedman said: “Matt is a brilliant, creative and insightful colleague who has added enormous value to the firm since he joined in 2010. His early vision and efforts in articulating the opportunities associated with Collaborative Solutions, fostering excellence in our long-standing Investment Advisory Services, and helping to attract, retain and manage a top-notch manager research team have led to great outcomes for our firm and clients alike.”

“Expanding Matt’s role and responsibilities represents a continuation of our firm’s long-standing policy of promoting hard-working and talented individuals into positions of leadership,” said Greg Curtis, Greycourt’s Founder and Chairman. “Matt is the third person to assume the role of President during the firm’s 30+ year history and represents the leading edge of Greycourt’s next generation of leadership.”
